

Blogdown

rmarkdown

Hugo

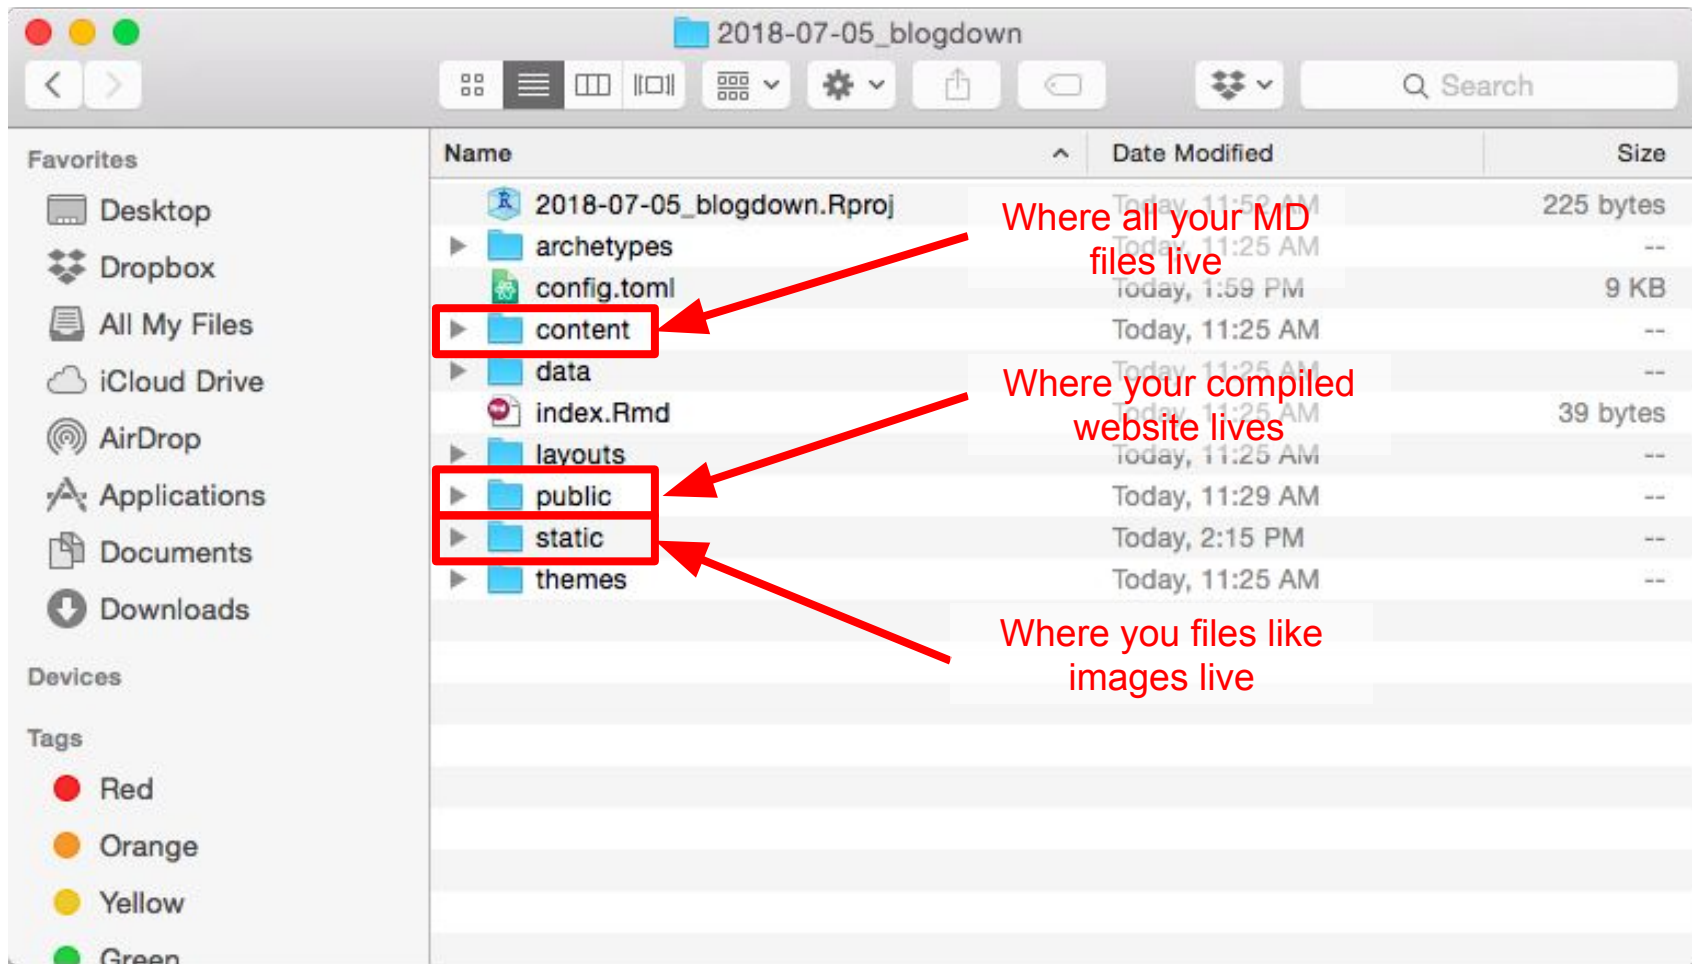

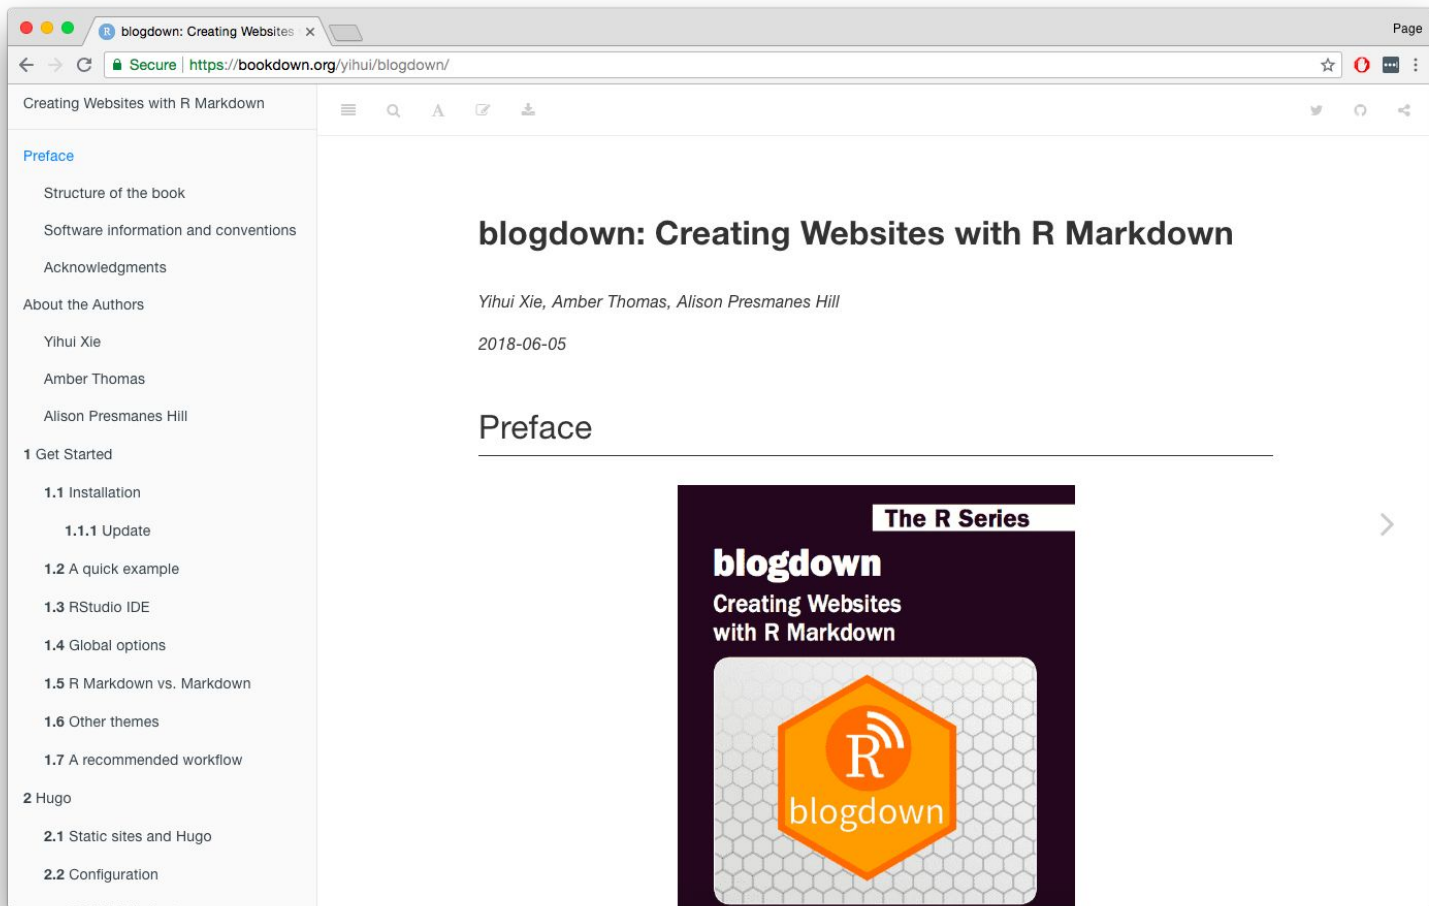

rmarkdown

blogdown

Up and running with blogdown x

Secure | <https://alison.rbind.io/post/up-and-running-with-blogdown/>

ALISON PRESMANES HILL

Home Publications Posts Talks & Workshops Teaching Contact

Up and running with blogdown

Mon, Jun 12, 2017 @apreshill R blogdown

- 1 Read up on blogdown
- 2 Caveats, disclaimers, etc.
- 3 In GitHub
- 4 In terminal
- 5 In RStudio
- 6 Build your site in RStudio
- 7 Deploy in Netlify
- 8 Publish

<https://alison.rbind.io/post/up-and-running-with-blogdown/>

1 Read up on blogdown

Before you start, I recommend reading the following:

- blogdown: Creating Websites with R Markdown by Yihui Xie and Amber Thomas
- Making a Website Using blogdown, Hugo, and GitHub pages also by Amber Thomas
- Getting Started with blogdown by M. Edward (Ed) Borasky

I also found this comment by Eric Nantz, the creator of the R-Podcast, in the rbind/support issues section on GitHub to be helpful:

- <https://github.com/rbind/support/issues/12>

2 Caveats, disclaimers, etc.

<https://alison.rbind.io/post/up-and-running-with-blogdown/#caveats-disclaimers-etc.>